THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER
O! say, can you see by the dawn’s early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight’s last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O’er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets’ red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
O! say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave,
O’er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

HAIL TO OLD I.U.
Come and join in song together,
Shout with might and main;
Our beloved Alma Mater,
Sound her praise again.

Chorus
Gloriana, Frangipana,
E’er to her be true;
She’s the pride of Indiana,
Hail to old I.U.!

—Joe T. Giles, Class of 1894

Dear Graduates:

Congratulations! Today’s Commencement ceremony marks the culmination of your years of hard work at Indiana University, and this achievement is only the beginning. Let me add my best wishes to those of your family and friends whose love, encouragement, and faith have propelled you toward this wonderful day. The strength of that support helps all of us achieve our highest goals and deserves our deepest gratitude. Today is as much a day to share that gratitude as to celebrate.

Over the course of the years, it may have seemed as if this moment would never come. I am certain that each of you has faced challenges along the way, but I am equally certain that your professors and mentors have instilled in you skills in persuasion, reasoning, and critical inquiry that have helped you to overcome those challenges. Those are the very skills that will serve you best as you face a global future of competition and change. You have prepared for that future on an IU campus that, for many of you, has stretched around the world.

As you graduate today, you are extending the great traditions of Indiana University that have taken shape over more than two centuries. You and 750,000 other alumni are a proud and important part of this university’s rich and living history. Wherever you go, Indiana University will always be your alma mater and will always welcome you back.

Again, congratulations and best wishes for the greatest success in the future.

Most sincerely,

Pamela Whitten
President

COMMENCEMENT TRADITIONS

Today’s 193rd Commencement exercises at Indiana University Bloomington mark the joyous culmination and proud recognition of our graduates’ academic achievements. The ceremony is rich in academic tradition and protocol.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE
The origins of academic dress date back to the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, when universities were taking form. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric. Long gowns were worn and may have been necessary for warmth in unheated buildings.

The assignment of colors to signify certain faculties was a much later development, and one that was standardized in the United States in the late nineteenth century. White, taken from the white fur trimming of the Oxford and Cambridge bachelor’s hoods, was assigned to arts and letters. Red, one of the traditional colors of the church, went to theology. Green, the color of medieval herbs, was adopted for medicine, and olive, because it was so close to green, was given to pharmacy. Golden yellow, standing for the wealth that scientific research has produced, was assigned to the sciences.

GOWNS
All candidates for degrees and those who hold those degrees, including university officials and faculty and visiting dignitaries, wear traditional gowns. Most are black, but some are brightly colored. The style of the gown indicates the highest degree held by the wearer, and the colors represent institutions and fields of study.

The gowns for bachelor’s degree and associate degree recipients have a closed front and open sleeves. At Indiana University, candidates for bachelor’s and associate degrees also wear crimson “stoles of gratitude,” which they may keep as a memento of the day or present as a token of thanks to anyone who has guided them on their path to graduation.

The master’s degree gown has extremely long, closed sleeves, from which the arms extend through a slit at the wrist; the end of the sleeve is square, with an arc cut away just above the bottom. The doctor’s gown has velvet panels down the front and voluminous bell-shaped sleeves on which there are three velvet bars.

Caps, Tassels, and Hoods
Candidates for associate and bachelor’s degrees wear square-topped caps—also called mortarboards—which are adorned with colored tassels appropriate to the school or division from which they are graduating. The same colors are used throughout the United States. They are:

- Arts and Sciences—White
- Business—Drab
- Education—Light Blue
- Informatics, Computing, and Engineering—Copper
- Music—Pink
- Nursing—Apricot
- Optometry—Aqua
- Public and Environmental Affairs—Peacock Blue
- Public Health—Salmon
- Social Work—Citron

Velvet-lined hoods are worn by holders of master’s and doctoral degrees. The master’s hood extends to the middle of the back, is edged in velvet in the same color as the tassel, and is lined with colors representing the institution from which the degree was earned. Indiana University hoods are lined with cream and crimson.

The doctor’s hood is longer, has wider velvet edging, and fully exposes the lining.

Honor Cords and Medallions
Graduating students who have graduated with honors are entitled to wear gold medallions indicating that they are graduating with honors. The recorders in each school distribute fourragères to qualified students before Commencement. The requirements for graduating with honors are different for each school.

IU Bloomington College, School, and Departmental Honor Cords
Some schools and departments offer honors programs for students who excel academically and seek an enriched and challenging learning environment. Graduates who fulfill the requirements of these programs receive a notation on their diplomas and are eligible to wear gold or blue honor cords, which are provided by the participating colleges, schools, and departments.

Insignia from Greek Honor Societies
A wide array of honors organizations recognize outstanding achievement in service, philanthropy, and scholarship. Indiana University is proud of all of its students who fulfill the requirements for membership in these important societies, but on Commencement day the university singles out those honor societies that emphasize academic achievement. Graduates who have been admitted to these societies may wear the appropriate cords at Commencement.

Honor Cords for Veterans and Service Members
Graduating students who have served or are currently serving in the U.S. Armed Forces wear red, white, and blue cords.

Congrats to our students, family, friends, and faculty! How proud we are of the skilled, ready, and talented graduates of IU Bloomington! Today’s class, where you are going to make a difference and have a lasting impact on the world! Congratulations, Class of 2022! Visit our store in the Indiana Memorial Union. iubookstore.com
STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

JORDAN RAE DAVIS

Jordan Davis is graduating today, with highest distinction, from the Kelley School of Business with majors in marketing and international business. She minored in Spanish in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Davis came to Indiana University from Dayton, Ohio, with the William R. Fry Scholars, a Kelley School-sponsored scholarship program. One experience that she enjoyed in her time at IU was serving as an orientation leader, a position that she saw as a perfect fit. “That was so much fun,” she recalls. “I’m really high-energy, and I had loved orientation when I was a freshman, so to be able to give back meant everything to me.”

Another powerful experience was Davis’s semester in Sevilla, Spain, in the fall of 2021. Not only did she have the opportunity to fine-tune her own Spanish skills, but she was able to produce a talk show, “The Jordan Davis Show,” aimed at preparing future students in the Sevilla program for their travels. The program won a “best marketing” award from the Council on International Educational Exchange and led to a record number of students applying to the Sevilla program.

Davis continues to have a media presence—she co-hosts the podcast “you’re too loud!” with fellow graduating senior Sika Kodzi. They describe the show as featuring “two unapologetically loud, incredible Black women with a whole lot to get off their chest...where they celebrate the good in the world, confront difficult conversations, and ask the important questions, all while making you laugh with their Black girl magic.”

Other campus involvement has included serving as director of Health and Wellbeing for IU Student Government, where she was able to advocate to address previously overlooked needs of transgender and Black female students. She also served as vice president of outreach for Kelley Student Government. In that role she initiated the schoolwide “I Am, I Am Not” campaign, with the goal of dispelling stereotypes, bringing awareness of diversity, and promoting inclusion.

Among her many honors, Davis is the recipient of the 2022 Herman B Wells Senior Recognition Award, the campus’s most prestigious award presented to a graduating senior in recognition of academic excellence. She is also the recipient of a 2022 Poets & Quants Top 100 Business Students Award, a 2022 Martin Luther King Building Bridges Award, and the 2021 Kelley Student Leader of the Year Award. After graduation, she will work in a Chicago management and consulting firm and continue to pursue her long-term goal of becoming a professional talk-show host.

As Davis recently told an audience of honor students, “Despite our backgrounds and viewpoints, what unites us is the fact that we’ve all maximized our learning experience from Indiana University. So let’s take all we’ve learned, seize the moment, and transform our world into an even brighter and more beautiful place.”
Congratulations to this year’s Outstanding Senior Awards recipients!
