

INDIANA UNIVERSITY BLOOMINGTON
ONE HUNDRED NINETY-FIFTH
COMMENCEMENT

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 20, 2024

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

O! say, can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
O! say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

HAIL TO OLD I.U.

Come and join in song together,
Shout with might and main;
Our beloved Alma Mater,
Sound her praise again.

Chorus

Gloriana, Frangipana,
E'er to her be true;
She's the pride of Indiana,
Hail to old I.U.!

—Joe T. Giles, Class of 1894

INDIANA, OUR INDIANA

Indiana, our Indiana,
Indiana, we're all for you.
We will fight for
The Cream and Crimson
For the glory of old IU.
Never daunted, we cannot falter.
In the battle, we're tried and true.
Indiana, our Indiana,
Indiana, we're all for you! I-U!

—Russell P. Harker

ONE HUNDRED NINETY-FIFTH COMMENCEMENT

Indiana University Bloomington

Dear Friends:

Welcome to Indiana University's 2024 Winter Commencement. This celebration of the tremendous success of our graduating students is one of the high points of the year.

Graduates, today we pause to honor your accomplishments. This is your shining moment.

You come from across the state of Indiana, throughout the nation, and around the world. You have become a part of a tradition of excellence at Indiana University that dates back more than two centuries. No matter what degree you have earned, you have drawn on your intelligence and tenacity to achieve mastery and prepare for the challenges of tomorrow. We honor your achievements today and recognize the challenges you have already faced, and overcome, as you have pursued your dreams.

To the family members and friends of the Class of 2024 who have joined us today, thank you for being here and for the love, encouragement, and faith you have given in support of today's graduates. I know how proud you must be, and all of us at IU share your pride. The strength of support like yours helps each of us achieve our highest aspirations and deserves our deepest gratitude. Today is as much a day to share that gratitude as to celebrate.

Graduates, you will always be a part of IU's rich and living history, and no matter where your lives and careers take you, you will be IU Hoosiers for life. We know that you will value your IU education, use it for worthy ends, and go on to accomplish many more great things. We will remember and celebrate you always, wishing you the greatest success in the future.

Your strength, commitment, and perseverance have awarded you this well-deserved achievement. Congratulations!

Most sincerely,

Pamela Whitten
President

Guest Information

FIRST AID AND RESTROOMS

The IU Health Bloomington Hospital Emergency Department and Ambulance Service have personnel units located off the main lobby area to assist attendees. Emergency paramedic personnel will be able to provide immediate medical attention. If you require emergency medical assistance, please contact the nearest usher or police officer.

IU Auditorium has public men's and women's restrooms located on the Orchestra, Mezzanine, and Balcony Levels. A gender-neutral and family restroom is located on the north side of the house. All restrooms are ADA accessible. Please ask an usher if you need guidance to any of these locations.

LOST AND FOUND

Recovered items will be collected by event staff. To check for lost items, please ask an usher for directions to the lost and found areas located at the coat check in IU Auditorium. After Commencement, please call 812-855-9528 for help with lost or found items.

COMMENCEMENT TRADITIONS

The audience is requested to remain until the conclusion of the ceremony.

Today's 195th Commencement exercises at Indiana University Bloomington mark the joyous culmination and proud recognition of our graduates' academic achievements. The ceremony is rich in academic tradition and protocol.

THE STUDENT PROCESSION

The university grand marshal, attired in a black brocade gown with a gold sash and a black velvet cap, leads the procession into the hall. The students are next, marching in the respective schools that recommend them for their degrees.

Once the candidates have reached their seats, the members of the faculties of Indiana University Bloomington enter, wearing the colorful hoods of the colleges and universities from which they are graduates.

THE CEREMONY

The grand marshal, carrying Indiana University's ceremonial Mace, begins the platform party procession, and immediately following the grand marshal are the president, members of the Board of Trustees, the provost, the deans of the schools, university officers, and other participants.

The ceremony includes a Commencement address by the president, remarks by other speakers, and the conferral of degrees.

SYMBOLS

Traditional in all formal ceremonies of Indiana University are the Mace, symbol of authority, and the Jewel of Office, emblematic of the Office of the President.

The Mace, which is carried in by the grand marshal and is placed on the stage for the duration of the ceremony, is a symbol of authority. IU's Mace was presented by Phi Delta Theta in 1949 and is embossed with the seals of the university and the state of Indiana.

The president's Jewel of Office is also rich in meaning. Its design is inspired by the arbutus, the university flower. Three precious stones within the jewel represent reading, writing, and arithmetic, and another three, the arts, sciences, and humanities. The Jewel of Office was presented by Beta Theta Pi in 1945.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The origins of academic dress date back to the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, when universities were taking form. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric. Long gowns were worn and may have been necessary for warmth in unheated buildings.

The assignment of colors to signify certain faculties was a much later development, and one that was standardized in the United States in the late nineteenth century.

Gowns

All candidates for degrees and those who hold these degrees, including university officials and faculty and visiting dignitaries, wear traditional gowns. Most are black, but some are brightly colored. The style of the gown indicates the highest degree held by the wearer, and the colors represent institutions and fields of study.

The gowns for bachelor's degree and associate degree recipients have a closed front and open sleeves.

At Indiana University, candidates for bachelor's and associate degrees also wear crimson "stoles of gratitude," which they may keep as a memento of the day or present as a token of thanks to anyone who has guided them on their path to graduation.

The master's degree gown has extremely long, closed sleeves, from which the arms extend through a slit at the wrist; the end of the sleeve is square, with an arc cut away just above the bottom. The doctor's gown has velvet panels down the front and voluminous bell-shaped sleeves on which there are three velvet bars.

Caps, Tassels, and Hoods

Candidates for associate, bachelor's, and master's degrees wear square-topped caps—also called mortarboards—which are adorned with colored tassels appropriate to the school or division from which they are graduating. The same colors are used throughout the United States. They are:

- Arts and Sciences—White
- Business—Drab
- Education—Light Blue
- Informatics, Computing, and Engineering—Copper
- Law—Royal Purple
- Medicine—Kelly Green
- Music—Pink
- Nursing—Apricot
- Optometry—Aqua
- Public and Environmental Affairs—Peacock Blue
- Public Health—Salmon
- Social Work—Citron
- Graduate School—Royal Blue

Doctoral candidates may wear either a mortarboard or a velvet tam. Doctoral tassels are gold.

Velvet-lined hoods are worn by master's and doctoral candidates. The master's hood extends to the middle of the back, is edged in velvet in the same color as the tassel, and is lined with colors representing the institution from which the degree was earned. Indiana University hoods are lined with cream and crimson.

The doctor's hood is longer, has wider velvet edging, and fully exposes the lining.

Honor Cords and Medallions

Graduating with Distinction, High Distinction, and Highest Distinction
Indiana University holds all of its graduates in high esteem and takes an added measure of pride in those who have excelled academically.

Candidates who graduate with Distinction, High Distinction, and Highest Distinction are entitled to wear on their left shoulders the fourragère, cream and crimson cords. In addition, on some IU campuses, certain students are entitled to wear gold medallions indicating that they are graduating with honors. The recorders in each school distribute fourragères to qualified students before Commencement. The requirements for graduating with honors are different for each school.

IU Bloomington College, School, and Departmental Honor Cords

Some schools and departments offer honors programs for students who excel academically and seek an enriched and challenging learning environment. Graduates who fulfill the requirements of these programs receive a notation on their diplomas and are eligible to wear gold or blue honor cords, which are provided by the participating colleges, schools, and departments.

Insignia from Greek Honor Societies

A wide array of honors organizations recognize outstanding achievement in service, philanthropy, and scholarship. Indiana University is proud of all of its students who fulfill the requirements for membership in these important societies, but on Commencement day the university singles out those honor societies that emphasize academic achievement. Graduates who have been admitted to these societies may wear the appropriate cords at Commencement.

Honor Cords for Veterans and Service Members

Graduating students who have served or are currently serving in the U.S. Armed Forces wear red, white, and blue cords.

MUSIC

Today's music is performed by musicians from the Indiana University Jacobs School of Music. The selections represent a range of genres, including traditional ceremonial pieces, such as several of the famous Pomp and Circumstance Marches by Sir Edward Elgar and Marching Song by Gustav Holst. In addition, the program consists of other familiar marches and fanfares, and two Indiana University traditions: Hail to Old I.U. and the IU fight song, Indiana, Our Indiana.

STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

PROMISE FORTI

Promise Forti graduates today with highest distinction, earning a Bachelor of Science from the IU Kelley School of Business, where she majored in economic consulting, public policy analysis, and international business. Arriving at IU from Saint Joe, Indiana, Forti chose to major in economic consulting after taking an impactful class as a freshman. She would like to work within law one day.

She is the recipient of a Cox Engagement Scholarship, which rewards strong academic performance, hard work, and a commitment to service. As a Cox Engagement Scholar, Forti works as an Advocate for Community Engagement at the nonprofit organization Boys and Girls Club of Ellettsville through the Center for Innovation and Learning at IU. In exchange for a full tuition scholarship, IU's Cox Scholars work 10 to 12 hours each week organizing and facilitating partnerships between IU service-learning courses and their assigned work site. Additionally, Forti received the Provost's Scholarship, also granted to academically distinguished students.

Forti served as the assistant director of ethics and social responsibility for the Kelley School of Business student government. In this role, she focused on creating opportunities for students to learn more about ethics through panels, case competitions, and research. Through the college ministry The Salt Company, she also mentored and tutored undergraduates in both academic and nonacademic capacities.

Forti has worked three years as a teaching assistant at the Kelley School for undergraduate-level courses in the fundamentals of economics and, more recently, a senior-level consulting class. She completed internships at consulting firm Alvarez &

Marsal in Dallas, specializing in management consulting, and at Franklin Electric in Fort Wayne, specializing in marketing. As part of the Kelley Retail Workshop at IU, Forti engaged in comprehensive professional development and hands-on projects with extensive exposure to the corporate retail industry and career paths available to retail professionals.

An IU Founders Scholar, Forti has participated in intramural sports (frisbee) and participated in Bloomington theatrical programs. During her junior year, she completed a semester abroad at University of Strathclyde in Glasgow, UK, specializing in international business and marketing while also traveling to more than 10 countries.

Forti will join Mastercard as an analyst in franchise growth and enablement in February.
